Directions: Read the news report and answer the questions.

RABAT: Morocco's earthquake damaged 2,930 villages in the High Atlas mountains with a total population of 2.8 million people, the minister in charge of the budget said on Friday.

The 6.8 magnitude earthquake that struck on Sept. 8 killed more than 2,900 people, most of them in hard-to-reach mountainous areas.

At least 59,674 houses were damaged, of which 32 per cent have totally collapsed, the minister, Faouzi Lekjaa, said in a presentation at parliament.

The government would offer 2,500 dirhams (US$244) monthly over a year in aid to quake-stricken households, in addition to 140,000 dirhams compensation paid for totally destroyed homes and 80,000 for partially damaged ones, he said.

Reconstruction should respect the original architectural character of the High Atlas mountains, Lekjaa said. The earthquake destroyed many villages with traditional mud brick, stone and rough wood houses, specific to the Atlas mountains.

16. What is this news mainly about?
    1. The impacts of climate change
    2. The deadliest earthquake in North Africa
    3. The cause of a deadly earthquake in Morocco
    4. The destructive effects of an earthquake in Morocco

17. What is the death toll of the Moroccan earthquake?
    1. Over 2,900
    2. Around 2,900
    3. Almost 2,900
    4. Less than 2,900

18. According to the news, which of the following is TRUE about the victims?
    1. All of their houses were completely destroyed.
    2. Most of them live in remote mountain villages.
    3. They will receive 2,500 dirhams as a yearly payment.
    4. They will receive 80,000 dirhams to rebuild their destroyed homes.

19. Which of the following can be inferred from the last paragraph?
    1. Traditional mud brick housing style is very popular in Morocco.
    2. The villagers in the High Atlas mountains build their houses using locally-sourced materials.
    3. The Moroccan government will change the traditional building techniques of the local architects.
    4. The government reconstruction plan will include the improvement of roads and public services.

Reading 5: Items 20-23
Directions: Read the feature story and answer the questions.

Boxing Day is a public holiday celebrated in Great Britain and some Commonwealth countries, including Canada, Australia and New Zealand. It originated as a day when servants, tradespeople, and the poor were given gifts. The origin of the name has varied, with some believing it started when churches would leave boxes to collect donations for those less unfortunate. Others say Boxing Day started when employers would give their employees boxes of gifts the day after Christmas because they were required to work on Christmas Day.

Over the years, Boxing Day has become a holiday that is spent with friends and family. Many will use it as a day to eat leftovers, watch Christmas films and generally continue the festivities. Some households also meet with extended families to celebrate Christmas if they weren't together on the 25th of December.

Boxing Day has become more commercialized over the years. Besides eating leftovers, Boxing Day is a chance to look for the sales—and snap up some great bargains. Sales in-store and online offer big discounts to lure shoppers. Some retailers reduce their prices on Christmas Eve, sometimes as early as the 23rd of December.

20. What is the first paragraph mainly about?
    1. The origin of Boxing Day
    2. Christmas gifts from employers
    3. The role of churches in collecting donations
    4. The relationships between employers and employees

21. What is the biggest advantage of Boxing Day to shoppers?
    1. They can shop either in-store or online.
    2. They can shop as early as the 23rd of December.
    3. They can get big discounts from retailers.
    4. They can bargain to lower the goods' price.

22. What can be concluded from the passage?
    1. Employers in the past were more generous than those at present.
    2. Nowadays Boxing Day is celebrated differently from the olden days.
    3. Boxing Day is celebrated in every country where there are Christians.
    4. Extended families are not allowed to celebrate Christmas with the family.

23. What is the best title for this passage?
    1. Boxing Day: Past and Present
    2. Holidays in Great Britain
    3. Advantages of Boxing Day
    4. Boxing Day around the World
